ILLUSTRATED GUIDE + PRACTICAL WORKSHOPS

THE METHOD

Travel with a lighter plan

This guide turns a travel idea into concrete preparation. It is for travellers who want to check documents, understand commitments and organise arrival before filling every day with activities.

The method asks three questions: what is confirmed, what still depends on an answer, and what will we do if it changes? One readable confirmation and a fallback are more useful than a long list nobody revisits.

Read the relevant chapters, then complete the workshops. Examples are fictional: they establish no fare, journey time or field experience. Worksheets are static and completed on paper. Official requirements, provider terms and your individual circumstances remain decisive.

YOUR ROUTE

Pages	Focus
3-5	Priorities, documents and timeline
6-8	Transport, accommodation and arrival
9-13	Workshops, packing, money, changes and group
14-18	Worked example, brief, final check and sources

PRACTICAL WORKSHOP

Define the trip that fits

Before comparing offers, write down what departure must make possible: workable dates, party size, arrival pace and constraints. Separate essential needs from pleasant preferences. A late arrival, a tired child or difficulty carrying luggage may matter more than an attractive photograph.

Choose no more than three non-negotiable criteria. Turn each into a verifiable question: check-in at your arrival time, steps on the final approach, sleeping arrangements actually provided. “Convenient” becomes meaningful when it has a concrete answer.

Decide what can wait, such as a second-evening restaurant, an optional activity or a local purchase. You need not confirm everything in advance; resolve the uncertainties that could prevent arrival.

THE METHOD

Check each traveller's documents

People travelling together may face different requirements. Accès Maroc uses particulars including nationality, passport type, residence, any qualifying visa and travel purpose to direct applicants. Enter your actual situation rather than applying a companion's answer to yourself. [S1]

Check passport condition and the name against the ticket. ONDA highlights readable, undamaged travel documents. Check transit and return conditions for your country of residence too. An application submitted is not an authorisation granted. [S2]

For a child, unusual travel document or uncertain situation, ask the competent authority before making bookings irreversible. This guide states no universal permitted stay and does not determine your eligibility.
